

Oregon's 2012 Most Endangered Places

NOMINATION FORM

Each year, historic properties across Oregon are rehabilitated and reused, enriching the lives of residents, revitalizing the economics of Main Streets, and attracting visitors. Unfortunately, there are also scores of historic properties in imminent danger of being lost to hard times, development pressures, demolition, or neglect. These unique places tell the story of their community's heritage, values, industry, and culture.

The Historic Preservation League of Oregon wants to help preserve and pass forward these irreplaceable assets by focusing public attention and resources on them. Properties selected for the 2012 Most Endangered Places list will receive HPLO technical assistance to address immediate threats, provide educational resources to the local community, and develop strategies for their long term viability and preservation.

PART IV: NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION

Please address the following questions in no more than three pages of descriptive written detail:

1. Describe the historical significance of the place. What makes it important to you, the community, and the state?
2. What is the current use and condition of the place?
3. What are the current and long-term threats to the place?
4. What efforts have been taken to preserve the place in the past? What's being done to save it today?
5. Is there local support for saving the place? Who, specifically, could the HPLO count on for local support if the place is listed as one of the Most Endangered Places? Conceptually, what role would the HPLO play in 2012-2013? Are there any known resources and/or mechanisms available to save and protect the place? Who—if anyone—might oppose preserving the place?
6. What is likely to happen to the place if it is not listed as Most Endangered? What is the intent of the property owner regarding the preservation of the place?
7. What would a successful “save” look like to your community?
8. Is there anything else that the HPLO should know when considering this place for the 2012 list?

PART V: SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION

Attach at least three photographs of the place in its current condition. High resolution digital color images are preferred. Submission of additional documentation (articles, historical records, historic images, documentation) is encouraged to assist the review committee in adequately evaluating the place. Note: materials will be kept on file and will not be returned to the applicant. The HPLO reserves the right to use submitted photographs unless otherwise indicated by the applicant.

PART VI: SUBMISSION

Mail or email (strongly preferred) one copy of your completed nomination (Part I-V) to:

Historic Preservation League of Oregon
24 NW First Avenue, Suite 274
Portland, OR 97209

OR

HPLO@HistoricPreservationLeague.org

Criteria for selection include historic significance, degree of endangerment, local support, and long-term viability.

Please submit a separate form for each nominated property. All materials must be received by Monday, March 26, 2012, to be considered for listing. Applicants will be notified once their materials have been received and processed. Oregon's 2012 Most Endangered Places list will be announced at noon on May 22nd at the University Club of Portland.
